

presents:

the SEATTLE

Literacy Challenge

3 ways to participate:

Throughout August, you can donate new books at Borders Books and Music Stores throughout the Puget Sound. They are committed to helping kids learn, and they will give you a discount on any children's books you buy to donate.

Borders Locations:

Federal Way, Redmond, Seattle, Tacoma, Tukwila (Southcenter)

The following public libraries will accept new books:

Greenlake	7364 East Greenlake Drive N
U-District	5009 Roosevelt Way NE
Auburn	1102 Auburn Way S
Lynnwood	19200 44th Ave W
Tacoma	1102 Tacoma Ave S
Bellevue	1111- 10th Ave NE

You can also help by sending new books or monetary donations to:

Books For Kids

Attn: Seattle Literacy Challenge
1334 First Avenue #130
Seattle, WA 98101

(Please include your name and address if you would like a receipt for tax purposes.)

When you were a child, what was your favorite book?

Which story makes your child laugh?

What was the first book you read all by yourself?

Not all children have books of their own. Children who have books, treasure their books. They learn to love reading because of these books. Imagine what the world could be like if you shared your favorite story with a needy child.

Children need books to learn. It's that simple. The Seattle Company of Friends believes that we can help erase the 'digital divide' by ensuring that all children have books to help them learn. By donating new books to "Books for Kids," a Seattle-based non-profit organization that strives to end illiteracy, we can help the next generation become leaders.

Please donate new children's books through the Seattle Literacy Challenge. With your help, we can collect new books to give to local children at the start of the new school year. "Books for Kids" will help teach them the value of reading. Let's show the rest of the country that Seattle cares for children.

Make a difference in a child's life.